• Flood insurance requirements

• HOA and condominium fees

• Community Development District (CDD) fees, where applicable

• Florida Homestead Exemption

• Wind mitigation and four-point inspections

Understanding these factors early can help you budget more accurately and make confident decisions.

New Construction vs. Resale Homes

Many buyers are drawn to new homes because they offer:

• Modern floor plans

• Energy-efficient features

• Builder warranties

• Smart home technology

• Personalization and design options

Things to consider:

• Builder contracts

• Lot premiums

Resale Homes

Existing homes often provide:

• Established neighborhoods

• Mature landscaping

• Larger homesites

• Immediate move-in opportunities

• Character and unique architectural styles

The right choice depends on your lifestyle, budget, and timeline.
