Ten Things Sellers Will Miss Most

The Queen Anne Farmers Market – Thursday afternoons filled with fresh produce, local vendors, live music and friendly faces.

Park Days and Playtime – Warm memories at Big Howe Park, from cheering on Little League games to kicking soccer balls and tossing frisbees.

Wonderful Neighbors – Morning coffee on the porch, chatting with kind, joyful neighbors who make the block feel like family.

Backyard Summer Parties – Evenings around the firepit with laughter, s'mores, and friends. The spacious driveway and abundant street parking made it easy to host friends.

Walkable Everyday Conveniences – Morning strolls for the perfect cup of coffee or quick late-night grocery runs — all just steps from our door.

Ample Storage and Hobby Space – Room for bikes, luggage, and all our gear without feeling crowded.

Friday Movie Nights – Cozy family tradition in the media room with popcorn, blankets and our favorite films.

Peaceful Backyard Moments – Listening to birds from the hammock or watching our son practice soccer as we prep dinner in the kitchen.

Neighborhood Hangouts – Drinks with friends at Bar Miriam or casual dinners at nearby boutique restaurants, all just blocks away.

Window Bench – Perfect place to curl up with a good book while the raindrops patter against the glass.
