Ten Things Seller Will Miss

2510 6th Ave #2603 | Seattle

South-Facing Sunshine: Natural light fills the home throughout the day and was something we never stopped appreciating.

Views from Home: Watching the city, Elliott Bay, weather and evening lights change from high above Seattle made even an ordinary night at home feel special.

Inspire Fitness Center: Located on the 41st floor, a beautiful and fully equipped gym just an elevator ride away, made fitting in a workout unbelievably easy.

40th-Floor Spire Club: Our favorite place to entertain, meet friends or simply enjoy incredible city and Sound views.

Dog Wash: Having a dedicated place downstairs to clean up the dog was a small luxury we quickly came to love.

Walking Almost Everywhere: We loved being able to leave the car behind and walk to dinner, coffee, groceries, Pike Place, Seattle Center or an evening out without having to plan around parking.

Dinner at Tavolàta: Having one of Belltown's favorite pasta spots nearby made spontaneous dinners and happy hours dangerously easy.

Strolling to South Lake Union: It was so easy to walk into SLU for coffee, dinner or just to wander around and enjoy how lively the neighborhood feels, especially on a sunny Seattle afternoon.

Automated Parking: Pulling into Spire and letting the building handle the rest is the kind of convenience you quickly get spoiled by.

Private Movie Theater: Movie nights in the private theater became one of those amenities we never expected to use as much as we did, especially when we wanted a night out without actually going anywhere.
