

An aerial photograph of a large residential complex, likely an apartment or townhome development. The buildings are multi-story, light-colored with dark roofs, and are arranged in a curved pattern. In the foreground, there is a swimming pool and a clubhouse area. The complex is surrounded by a golf course with green fairways and a small pond. In the background, a city skyline is visible under a clear blue sky. A dark, semi-transparent banner is overlaid on the top half of the image, containing the address and unit number.
