7 BIGGAR HEIGHTS BAY

Four acres. Thirty-five years. Built exactly as it was designed - without compromise, and never a single corner cut. Tucked into the tree canopy of Bearspaw just ten minutes west of Calgary - and set on an extraordinary lot on a quiet cul-de-sac with almost no passing traffic - this is the kind of acreage that surfaces once in a generation. Not because properties like this don't exist, but because the people who build them rarely let them go. When they do, what they leave behind is something remarkable. The approach sets the tone. A tree-lined driveway opens to a fully heated six-car garage, a 24x24 workshop with 220 wiring, and a pump house with genuine conversion potential - the infrastructure acreage buyers spend years searching for. Inside, craftsmanship announces itself before you've taken three steps. Solid wood millwork with brass inlays, solid interior doors, custom trim detail, and joinery that tells you immediately this home was built to a standard, not a budget. Every casing, every piece of hardware chosen with intention. A Schonbek chandelier anchors the entry. The front living room is centred on a fireplace clad in floor-to-ceiling imported Italian stone with a mantle. French craftsman hardwood, crystal hardware, and hand-milled trim carry that finish through every room. The kitchen flows into the main living areas with blue pearl granite, a premium appliance package that has hardly seen a full season of use, built-in Bose speakers, and a family dining space where mornings linger and nobody rushes off. Across from the kitchen, an indoor hot tub wrapped in matching blue pearl granite adds a spa-like touch. The adjacent living room features a stone fireplace and built-in indoor garden that quietly dissolves the line between inside and out. The outdoors simply pours in. A skylit home office with its own fireplace, built-in cabinetry, and private side entrance sits off the main level - perfect for client meetings or closing the laptop before rejoining family. A laundry room and powder room complete the main floor before the staircase draws you up. A custom winding staircase leads to an intimate den and reading nook with detailed cabinetry, framed by a window overlooking the trees. Through French doors, the primary suite is spacious and serene - dual sinks, fully tiled shower, soaker tub, and custom walk-in closet. Three additional bedrooms, two connected by a Jack and Jill bath, give a growing family genuine room. The lower level offers a media room with full wet bar, gym space, and flexible entertaining areas. Outside, a built-in BBQ and chimneyed stone gas fireplace anchor a deck and patio built for every season, across four private acres that balance mature trees with open space for sport, play, and room to roam. Whoever comes through the door next is inheriting something rare - thirty-five years of thoughtful decisions, genuine craftsmanship, and a life well lived. This one is in a category of its own. The next chapter starts here.

BEARSPAW

ABOUT

Bearspaw is a rural community within Rocky View County consisting mostly of country residential acreages. Bearspaw is located northwest of the City of Calgary and east of the Town of Cochrane, on Highway 1A. The community of Bearspaw is one of the foremost places to live in Calgary with incredibly impressive homes on large private lots. Just on the outskirts of city limits, this community fully captures the natural beauty of the surrounding area landscape and features walking paths, ponds and lakes, wildlife and more.

HISTORY -

A Canadian Pacific Railway station was located and named Bearspaw in 1909. The Bearspaw name originates from Chief Bearspaw, who was head of the Stoney Nations. He was an influential negotiator and signatory for the 1877 Treaty No. 7. The Bearspaw area was settled mainly by dairy farmers. The first schoolhouse in the Bearspaw area had one classroom and was built in 1920 and it remained open until 1965. Bearspaw grew to include a mixture of farms and ranches, acreages and planned subdivisions.

LOCAL AMENITIES:

Local Shopping - Close to many amenities including the Bearspaw Golf & Country Club, the Bearspaw Lions Club Farmers Market, and the new Bearspaw Tim Hortons, and gas bar with a mini mart and Cold Stone Creamery. A short drive to local shopping in Rocky Ridge that includes the Co-op Grocery store and gas station, a bank, Subway, vets and more.
