CURATED FOR RESORT LIVING

Visionary design, elite craftsmanship, and the singular belief that a home should exceed every expectation.

Set beyond private gates and nestled among seven meticulously manicured acres, 234 Reibold Road represents the rare convergence of vision, craftsmanship, and unwavering attention to detail. What stands today is not merely an estate, but the culmination of an extraordinary transformation—one that touched every surface, system, and space.

From the moment the property comes into view, its presence is unmistakable. A sweeping circular drive wraps around the fountain, while sculpted box hedges and layered gardens create a landscape more reminiscent of a European country estate than a residence in Western Pennsylvania. Gas lanterns flicker at dusk, illuminating pathways and architectural details with a warmth that feels both timeless and inviting.

Completed just three years ago, this comprehensive reimagination by acclaimed designer April Spagnolo of Evalia Design is offered furnished, presenting an opportunity to step seamlessly into a residence where every detail has already been thoughtfully considered.

The resulting aesthetic balances classical architecture with contemporary refinement, creating spaces that feel simultaneously grand and deeply livable.

Throughout the residence, herringbone maple floors, custom millwork, imported marble, and hand-selected finishes establish a sense of continuity and purpose. Every room unfolds with intention. Every material was chosen not only for beauty, but for permanence.

Designed for unforgettable entertaining, the estate's outdoor living spaces rival a resort, anchored by a spectacular infinity-edge pool, fully equipped pool house, sunken fire pit, and year-round spa. The impressive climate-controlled garage serves as an amenity unto itself, complete with a golf simulator, custom finishes, and flexibility for luxury vehicle storage, recreation, or sport.
