

What the Owners Loved About Living at 965 Thornapple Grove

- One of our favorite things about this home has been the backyard sunsets. Whether relaxing under the retractable awning with coffee in the morning or unwinding on the patio in the evening, the backyard feels peaceful, private, and easy to enjoy.
- We've loved how the layout brings people together while still giving everyone their own space. The kitchen naturally became the heart of the home, opening into the living area and making it easy to cook, gather, host holidays, or simply spend time together.
- The neighborhood has such a comfortable and welcoming feel. It's quiet enough to feel tucked away, but still incredibly convenient to everyday shopping, restaurants, parks, and everything we need throughout Galloway, Hilliard, and nearby Columbus.
- We've especially appreciated being part of the Hilliard City School District area and having easy access to parks, walking paths, and green space nearby.
- The flexible spaces throughout the home allowed us to easily adapt rooms over time for guests, work-from-home needs, hobbies, and everyday living.
- The fenced backyard has been one of the best spaces for entertaining friends and family, grilling in the summer, and enjoying evenings outside with added privacy from the mature trees.
- Over the years, we've thoughtfully updated and refreshed the home to create a clean, comfortable, move-in ready space while still keeping the warmth and character that made us fall in love with it in the first place.
