

10 Things I Will Miss Most About This Home

Quiet Mornings on the Balcony: Some of my favorite moments have been spent sitting on the balcony with a coffee in hand, my laptop on the bench, letting the day begin slowly in the fresh air. It's a small space that has held many peaceful pauses.

A Home Filled with Light: Sunlight has a way of finding this home at every hour. Streaming through the kitchen window and patio doors, it brightens even ordinary days and gives the space a warmth that's hard to describe until you feel it.

Peaceful Privacy: Tucked away from the main road, the condo offers a level of quiet that feels rare. Mature trees just outside provide both privacy and a comforting sense of calm.

A Kitchen That Brings People Together: The double-opening kitchen cabinets may seem like a simple detail, but they've made hosting easy and natural. This is a home meant for shared meals and hosting loved ones.

A Smart and Stylish Upgrade: The barn door in the bathroom was a game-changer. Replacing a bulky, awkward door with a sleek, functional solution that simply works better every day.

A Neighborhood Full of Dogs (and Friendly Faces): As a pet owner, I'll miss the daily dog sightings and the easy conversations with neighbors out on walks — a simple, natural way community forms here.

Everyday Convenience Within Walking Distance: One of the most practical benefits of this home is how close the essentials are. With Target and the grocery store less than half a mile away, quick errands are easy to fit into daily life. Simple convenience right outside your door.

Summer Evenings at the Farmers Market: The Woodinville Farmers Market brings the neighborhood together each summer with fresh produce, local goods, and an unmistakable sense of community.

Peaceful Walks Along the River: Just minutes away, the Sammamish River Trail offers a convenient and scenic path for walking, biking, or simply getting outside to enjoy the outdoors.

Local Favorites Close to Home: One of the joys of living here has been having so many beloved local spots just minutes away. From watching a football game and enjoying a meal at Woodin Creek, treating ourselves to a waffle cone at Swanky Scoop, or simply grabbing a pastry and cup of coffee from Sidekick. All in walking distance!

Living in Wine Country: Woodinville is known as Washington's wine country and living here means being surrounded by an incredible collection of wineries, tasting rooms, and breweries. From relaxed afternoons to special celebrations, there's always an opportunity to explore a new site
