

In efforts to grow a culture that cares, founding agent, Susan Vanech of Compass Connecticut hosted the first annual Cards for Curves benefiting Pink Aid. The night took place at her luxury listing on 8 Melon Patch Lane in Westport, CT. The evening included private tours of the 12,000 square foot home, a wine tasting hosted by One Hope Wines which afforded 10 percent of proceeds back to Pink Aid, Kim Simmons Jewelry which also offered 10 percent back to Pink Aid and a poker game that kept the evening lively while raising significant contributions for the cause. A beautiful “grazing table” by Graze & Co was offered along with passed hors d’oeuvres and a full bar. A psychic rounded out the entertainment leaving some skeptical attendees astonished.

Guests included top performers in the real estate industry hailing from NYC, New Jersey, Westchester, and Connecticut from Compass as well as other real estate firms in the spirit of collaborating without ego for an important give back. Architects, designers, high net worth individuals, lenders, and centers of influence attended and participated to make the evening great fun, with great purpose.

The event was inspired by Susan’s mother in law, a two-time survivor of breast cancer - currently conquering her eighth bout of ovarian cancer. “My mother-in-law’s strength and courage speaks to the results of the efforts of organizations like Pink Aid. Couple that with working with a company that has built into its mission a culture of collaboration and caring elevates what I love doing each day.”

Compass agents work to help everyone find their place in the world. Compass Cares is just one program that empowers agents and employees alike to support meaningful causes right where it counts most: at home. By taking 1 percent of every Compass home sale, Compass Cares aims to contribute $10M in funds and skills-based volunteering to local organizations by the completion of 2019, with 100 percent of real estate transactions resulting in a donation to the community.

To learn more about Compass Cares and how the sale or purchase of your home can give back to an organization you care deeply about, please call or text Susan Vanech at 203-685-2348; Instagram: @susanvanechproperties

SPONSORED CONTENT

Compass Cares

Not just a slogan. Not just a program. But a culture.

