Welcome to Bristol Chateau, a classical Studio William Hefner in the exclusive enclave of Brentwood Park. This French chateau-inspired dream estate was featured in the November 2021 Edition of Architectural Digest Magazine and has been reimagined by Hefner to showcase the harmonious blend of traditional and contemporary styles. The 2nd level of the 2-story main house includes three bedrooms plus a primary suite with a separate his and hers closet and bath, along with a private den. The main level features a formal dining room, library, an office plus en-suite bath with floor-to-ceiling glass French doors, a La Cornue accessorized kitchen, and an elegant family room, all leading out to the upper patio with views of the manicured garden, pool, spa, and bocce ball court. The newly built 3-story back house (also architected by Hefner) features a grand entertainment area with pocketed sliding glass doors on the main level. The second-floor features two bedrooms, each with Romeo and Juliette balconies with one accessed via private entrance with a quiet outdoor sitting area and equipped with an outdoor shower. A secret button reveals a marble staircase to the subterranean level, where you'll find a speakeasy bar and lounge, a professional grade home movie theater, and a hidden 6500 bottle Burgundian style, limestone wine cellar. The unique combination of classical architecture, refined thoughtful design, and the picturesque park-like European grounds make this estate located in the heart of Brentwood Park a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.
