Grove Symphony

Truly unique and impossible to replicate, this architectural wonder inspired by Frank Lloyd Wright was formally known as Ursa Major. This masterpiece was extensively renovated and expanded between 2008-2013. Major Bel Air promontory of 2.5+ acres offers sweeping views over Stone Canyon reservoir, the city beyond. 2 parking courts with parking for 10+ cars and an impressive main entrance surrounded by lush gardens and ponds. Approximately 9,400sqft, unparalleled scale with soaring 40ft ceilings in the main great room, glamorous sunken conversation pit surrounding a monumental wood-burning fireplace. Water, steel, stone and glass combine to create a sensory experience like no other. Wrapped by a swimming pool inspired by a personal lake, the indoors blend seamlessly outside. Current building codes would not allow such a large pool and many other incredible elements. Complete privacy and security in prestigious celebrity enclave. One of kind and impossible to duplicate today.
