The Dabney Oasis: Trousdale's most exquisite modern interpretation of the greatest era and lifestyle the world has ever known. The Mid-Century restoration of the ages, a masterpiece born of the finest materials, leading style masters, and most coveted soil on earth. A Zen Garden motor court awaits behind tall private gates, with Bonsai trees and a wrap-around Koi River, leading you to the entrance to wonderland. Elegant double-doors uncover meticulously detailed interiors, hand curated by the renowned Miles Redd of Redd Kaihoi. From the plush movie theatre to each artfully directed suite, every one its own capsule of style, you'll set your eyes on rare wonders and details unheard of before in a home. Step through the grand entryway to the poolside nirvana, gazing over the architectural wonder of an in-pool fire pit to gorgeous Beverly Hills tree-tops, Century City, and the Pacific Ocean. Just beyond lies the hanging gardens of Trousdale, a multi-million dollar venture to create a modern wonder of the world. There was only one golden rule when it came to the budget: there was no budget, it simply had to be the best. A curated oasis of exotic plants and wildlife, adorned with a floating Lautner-esque cement staircase, dining areas, and viewing spaces to take it all in. The genius of Mid-Century master Mark Haddawy is woven into every meticulous detail. A rocket-age sweeping crescent roofline slips you into a world where life is simpler and the future is brighter: this is the American dream, so slip off that mask and take in that golden California air.
