

TRAILHEAD BUILDERS

of Montana, LLC

Trailhead Builders of Montana was formed in 2018, but Mark Allen has been building homes in the Billings area since 2000. Over the years, he's participated in 16 Parades of Homes, often with multiple entries in the same year, and his craftsmanship has been recognized with awards including:

- Best Grand Master Suite
- Grand Award Kitchen Design
- People's Choice Award (2005)

What sets Trailhead Builders apart is Mark's hands-on approach and unwavering attention to detail. He is known for listening deeply to his clients, creating designs that reflect their unique personalities, and following through with exceptional precision. His ability to blend function, efficiency, and artistry has made him one of the most respected builders in the region.

Mark and his wife Valerie have completed a significant amount of work in Red Lodge, Montana and are also behind some of the most stunning homes in Rehberg Ranch, Billings, Montana. Whether the style is a cozy craftsman, a sleek modern, or something in between, each project is crafted with the same commitment to quality and care.

Much of Trailhead's success stems from long-standing relationships with subcontractors and suppliers—many partnerships spanning over a decade. This consistency creates a team environment where every project runs smoothly, on budget, and with a shared dedication to excellence.

Today, Mark and Valerie, continue to grow Trailhead Builders of Montana together. As a full-service General Contracting, Construction Management firm, and developer, the company has broad experience across custom homes, land development, multi-family projects, remodels, and commercial construction. Yet no matter the project, Mark's philosophy remains the same: build with integrity, honor the client's vision, and never compromise on quality.
