Higgins Kalush Collective is an award-winning realty group based in Boulder, Colorado, with sales of more than $100 million annually.

Kristin Kalush and Cari Higgins, our Founding Realtors, are passionate about Boulder real estate and helping clients find their perfect home, neighborhood and community. They believe the high level of customer service we provide is particularly valuable to buyers relocating to the area.

"We purchased a home from out of state and had an excellent experience with Kristin and her team. She went to college in Boulder and has been in the area ever since and has a great feel for neighborhoods and schools. We went through the entire negotiation and most of the purchase process from across the country, and Kristin represented our interests promptly and professionally." - Buyer

At Higgins Kalush Collective, our primary goal is to add value to each involved party.
