

Leading Women in Business - Chicago

If you're looking for a REALTOR® who knows how to deliver in every imaginable way, then it's time to meet Nicole Hajdu.

For the last 15 years, Nicole has been helping her clients handle everything from buying, selling, short sales, foreclosures, renovations, and design. As a lifelong Chicago native, her personal knowledge of the market is hard to beat, and as an expert negotiator, she's been named a Chicago Association of REALTORS® Top Producer and Dream Town Top Producer every year since 2016.

"This is a relationship business," says Nicole. "My dad taught me to never do anything halfway, and that's how I show up for my clients. I listen to their dreams and objectives, and then we create a plan to make it all happen."

Whether Nicole and her team are managing transactions from $500K to $2.7M, their goal is always the same: Don't stop at delivering 100 percent. Instead, give 110 percent.

"We're here to exceed expectations," she says. "We want this to be a stress-free experience for our clients, and to do that, we leverage our industry network to keep on top of market trends and opportunities. Even more, we listen to our clients, and then we share those needs with one another to make sure that we can far exceed the desired end result."
