What People Are Saying

Lisa Quam understands the extraordinary requirements of selling in a luxury market. She has a strong command of target marketing and worked diligently to find buyers who loved our property. We found Lisa to be exceptionally responsible, and persistent in positioning our home locally and in key national cities. She was adept at negotiations and provided sound representation. We would not hesitate to endorse Lisa, or to use her again to support our luxury real estate needs.

Lisa is a superb professional. Lisa worked tirelessly with us to locate the perfect properties (she actually worked to locate three homes for us and we recommended her to various members of our family –and three households moved to NV using Lisa as our agent for their homes! Simply put, she went above and beyond at every point in the process—even going so far as calling in regularly from her vacation to coordinate with the builder, loan agent and City/County to insure smooth closing date(s) on our new homes. Her attention to details (contracts, addendums, forms and disclosures) was brilliant. Additionally, she was always acting as our agent and advocate first and foremost and doing what was in our best interests; her diligence and skill made a very stressful transition—moving from out-of-state to NV—a pleasure. In fact, our loan agent at Bank of America told us that, after 22 years in the home mortgage business, that he had never seen so fine a real estate agent and would be using her again. Frankly, we couldn't agree more with that professional assessment. We will be recommending Lisa Quam to every single one of our friends and family that have need of professional real estate services in NV—full stop.
