

DIGITAL MILLENNIUM COPYRIGHT ACT NOTICE

The Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998 (the "DMCA") provides recourse for copyright owners for material appearing on the internet that infringes their rights under U.S. copyright law. If you have a good faith belief that materials appearing on our website and/or mobile application (collectively, the "Service") infringe on your copyright, you (or your agent) may send us a notice requesting removal of or blocked access to such material. Your notice must:

1. Include a handwritten or electronic signature of a person authorized to act on behalf of the owner of the right that is allegedly infringed.
2. Identify the copyrighted work you claim has been infringed upon, or, if multiple copyrighted works on a single online site are covered by a single notification, a representative list of such works on that site.
3. Identify the material or activity that allegedly infringes and is requested to be removed or to which access is to be disabled, and information reasonably sufficient to permit the service provider to locate the material. You must provide direct URLs to the referenced content/image(s). You can send screenshots if URL's are not available..
4. Include reasonably sufficient information to permit us to contact the complaining party, Including an address, telephone number, and, if available, an email address at which the complaining party may be contacted.
5. Include a statement that the complaining party has a good faith belief that use of the questioned material is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law.
6. Include a statement that the information in the notice is accurate, and under penalty of perjury, that the complaining party is authorized to act on behalf of the owner of the allegedly infringed upon right.

In addition, if you believe in good faith that a notice of copyright infringement has been wrongly filed against you, the DMCA permits you to send us counter-notice. Notices and counter-notices must meet statutory requirements imposed by the DMCA. You acknowledge that if you fail to comply with all of the notice requirements of the DMCA, your notice may not be valid.
