

DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION ON LEAD-BASED PAINT AND LEAD-BASED PAINT HAZARDS (RENTALS)

Document updated:
January 2009

The pre-printed portion of this form has been drafted by the Arizona Association of REALTORS®. Any change in the pre-printed language of this form must be made in a prominent manner. No representations are made as to the legal validity, adequacy and/or effects of any provision, including tax consequences thereof. If you desire legal, tax or other professional advice, please consult your attorney, tax advisor or professional consultant.

1. Premises Address: 3508 N 62nd Pl Scottsdale, AZ 85251

2. Lead Warning Statement: Housing built before 1978 may contain lead-based paint. Lead from paint, paint chips, and dust can pose health hazards if not taken care of properly. Lead exposure is especially harmful to young children and pregnant women. Lead poisoning in young children may produce permanent neurological damage, including learning disabilities, reduced intelligence quotient, behavioral problems, and impaired memory. Before renting pre-1978 housing, landlords must disclose the presence of known lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards in the dwelling. Tenants must also receive a federally-approved pamphlet on lead poisoning prevention.

Lead-Based Paint Disclosure:

Tips for Rentals of Residential Properties — Steps for REALTORS® to follow

NOTE: The lead-based paint disclosure requirements apply to all real estate agents involved in the transaction except for tenant's agents receiving compensation from the tenant only. The following recommended steps are provided to help REALTORS® meet the law's obligations in a typical residential rental transaction.

1. When entering into an agreement to manage a property, the property manager/listing agent (hereinafter "property manager") should determine if the property is "target housing" (generally, built before January 1, 1978). This can generally be accomplished by asking the landlord/owner ("the owner"). If the owner doesn't know, the property manager should consult property records.

The property manager should also determine if the property falls within an exemption from the lead-based paint disclosure requirements. For example, if a certified inspector has determined that the property is free from lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards, or if the lease is for less than 100 days with no opportunity for renewal or extension, the disclosure requirements will not apply. Even if an exemption applies, the property manager should have the owner complete and sign the disclosure form, acknowledging in writing the claimed basis for the exemption. If an exemption applies, the disclosure form need not be given to potential tenants.

2. The lead-based paint disclosure requirements became effective for all "target housing" on December 6, 1996. All target housing will require the following steps.

3. If the property is target housing, the property manager must advise the owner of certain obligations, namely the following: 1) disclose to the tenant known lead-based paint or lead-based paint hazards; 2) provide the tenant any existing records, test results, reports, or other known lead-based paint information related to the presence of lead-based paint or lead-based paint hazards in the property, if any; 3) provide the tenant with the pamphlet Protect Your Family From Lead in Your Home (EPA approved lead-based paint hazard information pamphlet); and 4) include disclosure and acknowledgment language as part of the rental contract or addenda. (NOTE: The law does not require that all interested tenants must be informed, only the actual tenant.)

4. The property manager should have the owner complete, initial and sign the disclosure form. The property manager should obtain from the landlord any records, test results, reports, or other lead-based paint information related to the presence of lead-based paint or lead-based paint hazards in order to be ready to provide copies to a tenant making an offer to rent the property. The property manager should then initial and sign the form.

5. The property manager should disclose to potential leasing agents that the listed property is target housing, probably through the MLS or other offerings to REALTORS®.

6. The leasing agent (the agent working with the tenant who expects to be paid by the property manager or the owner — whether it be tenant's agent, subagent, "facilitator," or whatever) also has an obligation to ensure the owner's compliance. If the disclosure form has not been provided by the property manager, the leasing agent should provide the disclosure form to the property manager for the owner to complete and sign, or directly to the owner if no property manager is involved.

7. When the tenant is ready to make an offer on target housing, the leasing agent should provide the tenant with a copy of the disclosure form signed by the owner and the property manager, together with related test results and records, if any, and a copy of Protect Your Family From Lead in Your Home. Ideally, these documents will be obtained by the leasing agent from the property manager before the offer is signed by the tenant, but the signed disclosure form with attachments must be provided to the tenant before the offer to rent is accepted by the owner.

8. The disclosure form must be initialed and signed by the tenant and the leasing agent, which should be done after the owner and the property manager have initialed and signed the form. (By initialing line 32 of the AAR Disclosure of Information on Lead-Based Paint and Lead-Based Paint Hazards (Rentals) form, signing the Certification, and complying with the other terms of this AAR form, both the property manager and leasing agent will have met their obligations under the law.)

RESIDENTIAL LEASE OWNER ADVISORY

Document updated:
February 2018

WHEN IN DOUBT - DISCLOSE!

Residential lease owners have certain obligations pursuant to the Landlord and Tenant Act and other laws. There are also some very specific Owner disclosures that you are required by statute to make. For example, Owners are required to disclose information on lead based paint in homes built prior to 1978 and Owners must provide a state approved Pool Safety Notice if the property includes a pool or spa.

If the tenant asks you about an aspect of the property, you should disclose the information, regardless of whether or not you consider the information material. However, an Owner does not generally have a legal obligation to correct defects in the property, as long as the defect: (1) does not render the property uninhabitable; (2) does not pose a real or potential threat to the tenant's health or safety; and (3) as long as the existing defects are disclosed. Any correction of the defects is a matter of contract negotiation between you and the tenant.

The Arizona Association of REALTORS® Residential Lease Owner's Property Disclosure Statement is designed to assist you in making these disclosures and to avoid inadvertent nondisclosures of material facts.

You should complete this form by answering all questions as truthfully and as thoroughly as possible. You may use the blank lines to explain any answers. If you do not have the personal knowledge to answer a question, it is important not to guess—use the blank lines to explain the situation.

The form is divided into five general sections:

- (1) Ownership and Property: This section asks for general information about the property, such as location, ownership and occupancy. Any Owner, whether or not that Owner has actually lived in the property, should be able to answer most, if not all, of the questions in this section.
- (2) Building and Safety Information: This section asks for information regarding the physical aspects of the property. You should disclose any present problems with the property. You are also asked specifically to disclose any knowledge of scorpions or other possible "pests" have ever been present on the property. Although many Owners will answer affirmatively to these questions, full disclosure is the best way to avoid complaints.
- (3) Utilities: You are asked whether the property currently receives the listed utilities, and if so, to identify the provider. The water source and any known information about drinking water problems should also be disclosed.
- (4) Environmental Information: A variety of environmental information is requested. In addition to questions regarding environmental hazards, you are asked to disclose any issues relating to soil settlement/expansion, drainage/grade, or erosion; noise from the surrounding area including airport and traffic noise; and any odors or other nuisances. As a result of recent lawsuits and potential health concerns, you are asked specifically if you are aware of any past or present mold growth on the property. Mold spores are everywhere and when mold spores drop in places where there is water damage or excessive moisture, or where there has been flooding, mold will grow. Thus, you are asked to disclose any conditions conducive to mold growth, such as past or present dampness/moisture, flooding, and water damage or water leaks of any kind.
- (5) Additional Information: These blank lines provide space for you to provide any other important information concerning the property.

Please note: By law, Owners are not obligated to disclose that the property is or has been: (1) the site of a natural death, suicide, homicide, or any other crime classified as a felony; (2) owned or occupied by a person exposed to HIV, or diagnosed as having AIDS or any other disease not known to be transmitted through common occupancy of real estate; or (3) located in the vicinity of a sex offender. However, the law does not protect an Owner who makes an intentional misrepresentation. For example, if you are asked whether there has been a death on the property and you know that there was such a death, you should not answer "no" or "I don't know"; instead you should either answer truthfully or respond that you are not legally required to answer the question.
