JOZETTE & JASON DRIEAR

Born and raised in Wisconsin, Jozette Driear has always been interested in real estate. After getting her start in the Midwest, she would relocate to Montana in the early 1990s and quickly fall in love with the state, in particular for how it complimented her outdoor lifestyle. Also equipped with years of experience in the construction and finish industry, she decided to launch her career as a full time agent, finding fast success in the business. Soon after, her husband Jason, a lifelong resident of Montana, decided to join her, and in the decades since, the couple has built a network of satisfied clients and fellow agents that spans the region.

Today, Jozette and Jason are Realtors® for PureWest Real Estate, where they assist clients throughout all of Southern Montana. There, they have combined their unmatched expertise, outstanding communication skills, and compassion to meet the needs of any buyer or seller.

When listing a property, Jozette and Jason are there for their clients from start to finish. After helping fully prepare each house for the market, they share it via a blend of targeted digital and social media campaigns. But no matter what, they keep their clients included in the process, maintaining a high standard for open and honest communication throughout. “We’re real with our clients,” Jozette says. “Above all, we want to include them every step of the way, and we often wind up becoming good friends over the course of their transaction.”

Elsewhere, Jozette and Jason are just as attentive when assisting their buyers, leveraging their acute knowledge of the Montana region to carefully guide clients to the right home for their best interests. In fact, the Driears stay in touch long after the closing through regular check-ins and even the occasional barbeque or appreciation event—all to ensure their clients are enjoying their new homes.

Through the years, Jozette and Jason have earned a fantastic reputation throughout Montana, as evidenced by their strong rate of repeat clients and referrals. In part, this is due to their strong foundations in construction. Having spent 29 years building custom homes and commercial buildings, Jason possesses the insight needed to identify any potential design issues with a prospective house. Moreover, he and Jozette can connect their clients to an extensive network of contractors and real estate professionals, giving their buyers and sellers an added advantage.

When they're not with clients, the Driears can be found spending quality time hiking, hunting, or fishing together in the great outdoors. Meanwhile, Jason is also an avid fan of buying and selling classic cars. Going forward, though, this power couple has strong plans for the future of their business. But most of all, Jason and Jozette look forward to all the new clients and opportunities that await in Southern Montana. “In real estate, no two days are the same,” Jozette says. “But we truly appreciate the variety offered by our career. At the end of the day, the process of getting out there, meeting new people, seeing new properties, and helping our clients is what keeps us going.”
